KUDAMATSU 下松 Tourist guidebook

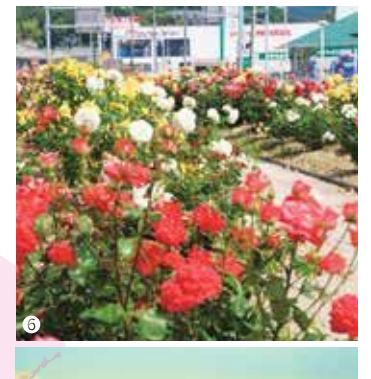

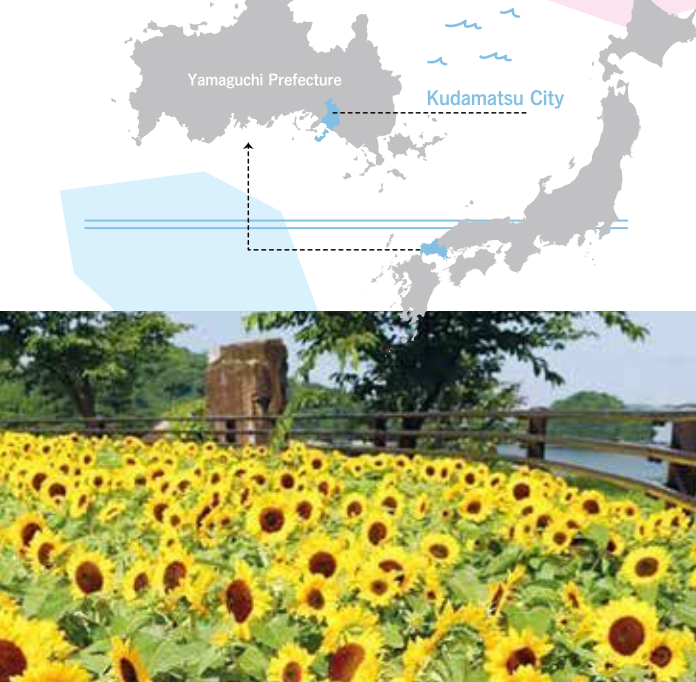

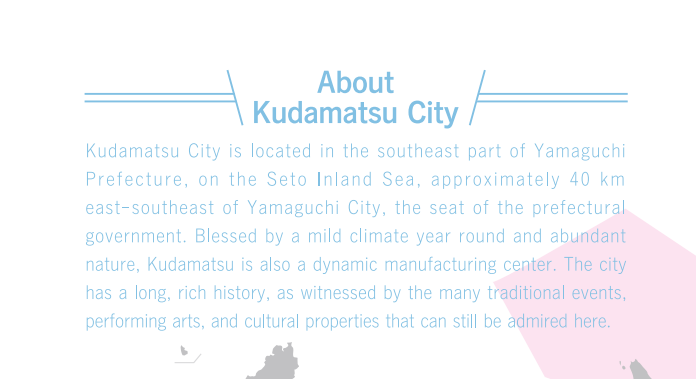

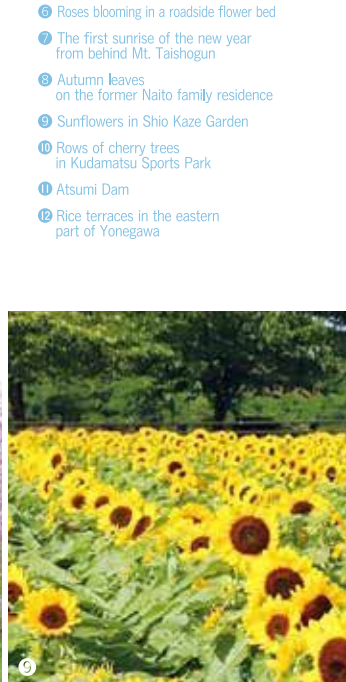

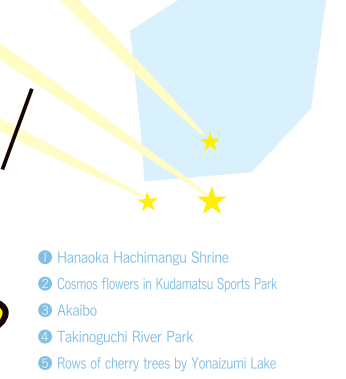

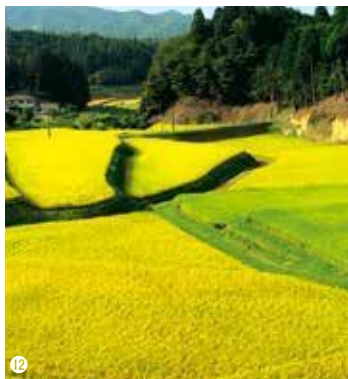

Origin of a name: the "Falling Star Legend"

Around the time of Empress Suiko, a large star fell on an old pine tree in Aoyagiura where it shone brightly for seven days and seven nights, conveying the message that "the prince of Baekje (Korean kingdom) shall come to this place."

Three years later, from Baekje came Prince Imseong, reputed to be the ancestor of the Ouchi clan who would rule this land for many years to come.

A shrine was built by local residents to commemorate the star.

The location was given the name "Hoshi ga futta matsu" (pine on which a star fell) which later became "Furimatsu" and eventually "Kudamatsu."

About Kudamatsu City

Kudamatsu City is located in the southeast part of Yamaguchi Prefecture, on the Seto Inland Sea, approximately 40 km east-southeast of Yamaguchi City, the seat of the prefectural government. Blessed by a mild climate year round and abundant nature, Kudamatsu is also a dynamic manufacturing center. The city has a long, rich history, as witnessed by the many traditional events, performing arts, and cultural properties that can still be admired here.

Kasado Island's recommended spots

Kasado Island is filled with all of the charm of the Seto Inland Sea. It's a perfect island for sightseeing and recreation, where one can enjoy outdoor activities like hiking and camping.

Kasado Bridge

Kawazu's cherry trees

Every year, between mid-February and mid-March, these cherry trees are in bloom with beautiful pink flowers. The area is lined with about 500 trees, allowing visitors to welcome the early arrival of spring.

A popular cherry blossom viewing spot

Hanaguri swimming beach

This artificial beach, located in Setonaikai National Park, also features an over-the-sea marine promenade and a ramp that allows wheelchair users to access the beach.

With a total length of about 300 meters, the promenade allows visitors to stroll over the sea.

famous sunset

Yuhi Misaki (Sunset Cape)

Views of the sunset and nearby Hanaguri Rock, which features a large hole caused by seawater erosion, are stunning and attract many photographers.

Sea breeze garden

Throngs of visitors flock here to watch rapeseed flowers and cherry blossoms bloom in spring and sunflowers in summer. The Kasado Island Kawazu Cherry Blossom Festival is held here from February to March of every year.

Fukaura floating torii gate

The torii gate of Itsukushima Myojin Shrine stands on the west side of Fukaura, a port town in the southern part of Kasado Island. Every summer, the Kangensai Festival is held here to pray for safe seas.

Kasado Island's treasures

The entire island of Kasado is designated part of Setonaikai National Park.

The island is famous for being the natural habitat of the Kasado flounder and the Kasado tiger blowfish.

Let us introduce some of the island's sightseeing spots, gourmet foods, and special events!

Kasado flounder and tiger blowfish

The Kasado flounder, the gastronomical pride of Kudamatsu, is a meaty fish that has plenty of fat with a slightly sweet taste and has been used as an ingredient in high-end dishes. The more you chew it, the richer the taste becomes, and farmed flounder has a reputation for being even more delicious than wild ones! Another renowned delicacy of Kudamatsu is the tiger blowfish, which is farmed on Kasado Island.

Kudamatsu City Cultivation Fishery Center (Hirameki ★ Park, Kasado Island)

Access the website from here!

Here you can visit flounder farming facilities, try your hand at feeding the fish, and learn about commercial fisheries and aquaculture (reservation required for groups).

At Kasado's main aquaculture facility, 13 different species of fish, including flounder, are bred and released into the wild. Visitors can tour the facilities and buy Kasado flounder directly from the source.

Kudamatsu's highlights

Kudamatsu City has been attracting visitors since ancient times with its reputation of a pleasant city to live in, and has thrived as a center of traditional arts and crafts. Part of its charm is the presence of many cultural properties that define different historical eras.

There are many more!

Every year on Nov 3

Lots of stalls, mochi-throwing, and competitions!

Inaho Festival -Kitsune no yomeiri- (The Fox's Wedding)

A bride and groom made up as foxes ride on a rickshaw, accompanied by a cortege of foxes, including some carrying a wedding chest, parading on the old road leading to Suo-Hanaoka Station.

1. A unique festival held at Hanaoka Fukutoku Inari Shrine. Many visitors flock to the festival every year because it is said that those who participate in the procession will find a suitable marriage candidate.
2. Walk about 1 km and sign a marriage agreement.

Kasado Island's Itsukushima shrine

A long time ago, Ichikishimahime, the deity of water venerated at Itsukushima Shrine, fell in love with Fukaura during a sea voyage and decided to live here forever. However, it is reported that when she found out that, even though seven bays are celebrated in the area, Kasado Island was actually short of one bay, she gave up and moved to Miyajima in Akinokuni instead.
*Currently there are seven bays.

Hanaoka Hachimangu

Many illustrious military commanders, including Yoshitaka Ouchi and Hideyoshi Toyotomi, have worshiped at this venerable shrine built in the year 709. In the surrounding area, many historical remnants associated with the old highway, including a sake brewery, remind visitors of the bustling past times.

Hiking trails

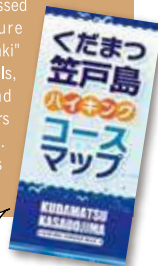

Kudamatsu City is surrounded by abundant nature, and there are many hiking trails. Here we introduce three recommended areas!

【Kasado Island trails】

Kasado Island of Setonaikai National Park is blessed with a varied coastline and abundant nature collectively referred to as "Shichiura Shichimisaki" (seven bays and seven capes). Some of the trails, that can be enjoyed by both beginners and advanced hikers alike, will take you over 200 meters above sea level, like the ones going over Mt. Takatsubo or Mt. Suribachi, which was selected as one of Japan's "100 best island mountains."

Maps of each trail can be obtained in Kudamatsu City!

【Yonegawa trails】

Yonegawa is blessed with abundant nature, and its three most representative trails are the Mt. Taishogu Trail, the Yonaizumi Lake Trail, and the Nishihiraya Trail. The views over the sea of clouds from the top of Mt. Taishogun and those over the surrounding landscape from the radio wave reflector platform are superb, while the Nishihiraya Course will allow you to discover the original countryside scenery of this area.

【Mt. Chugu trail】

This hiking trail, with a total vertical running distance of about 13 km, can be accessed through many different trailheads. It features many cultural properties (historical sites) and stunning views from the top of Mt. Chausuyama. Many climbers from outside the prefecture come hike this course for its combination of nature and history.

Kudamatsu, proudly boasting world-class manufacturing.

Kudamatsu has been a bustling industrial city since the Taisho era and is now the center of the Shunan industrial zone.

Manufacturing is at the heart of Kudamatsu as witnessed by the wide range of manufacturing industries present here.

Birthplace of railroad cars

From manufacturing city Kudamatsu to Britain, the birthplace of railways

Hitachi Corporation has been receiving orders for train cars from the Intercity Express Programme (IEP) an initiative promoted by the British Department for Transport to procure new trains to replace old ones on major trunk lines. At the time of shipping, the railroad cars, which are usually transported by road at night, are transported in the daytime so as to offer the many spectators gathered here a glimpse of a very rare occurrence.

This initiative has so far been carried out twice, in March 2017 and in July 2019. The photo refers to July 2019.

Craftsmanship handed down through the years

Kudamatsu has been an industrial city for many years and the craftsmanship handed down through the years is the base of today's manufacturing.

Sheet metal embossing

Sheet metal embossing is a stamping process where gently-curving surfaces are made by hitting a metal plate with a hammer or other instruments. The "face" of Shinkansen bullet trains is molded using this technique.

1. Veteran and young workers train hard honing their individual skills.
2. Aluminum cellos made with advanced sheet metal embossing techniques.
